THE NEWS OF THE DAY

Picked at random from the news for the last few days we find the following outstanding stories. Outstanding because they are unusual and indicative of the modern day and age.

THE YEAR OLD YOUTH
A man claiming to be 114 years old in Russia, goes to a hospital for an appendicitis operation. While he is there another man, a young man is fatally injured. The young man dies and the physicians immediately transfer his glands to the body of the aged man. The 114 year old youth says that he hasn't felt so young for 100 years. If the story is true we are entitled to a more complete statement from the medical profession than the mere details as stated in the wire news report.

MISDIRECTED ENERGY
Thieves entered a local hotel a few days ago and were rewarded for their trouble with almost 100 pennies. The same amount of energy that was required to plan the theft, and then carry it out if applied to something honest would probably have been much more remunerative to the perpetrators of the crime. In all probability the larger portion of petty crime is misdirected energy and the same might be said of more serious crimes. This would then indicate that what we really need are not more stringent laws and safer prisons, but an educational program for all.

LIBERTY
Back east they are trying the editor of a paper because he believes that "God did not create man, but that man created God." When we read in our histories that many of the pioneers of this country left the continent because of persecution of their beliefs we are forced to do some wondering. It is true that the man is being tried under an old law, but that doesn't make the case just in any sense of the word. One advantage of the west, we didn't start making laws here while the brains of the legislators were developing those curious quirks.

THE NEW TAX LAW
As we read the announcement of the new tax law and the big reduction in taxes that is coming through we wonder what has been done with all the money that was raised before. National economy however, is not going to accomplish much as long as city, county and state continue with their upward trend of taxes. Some of the lesser officials might learn a lesson from the action of Congress during the past eighty days.

CHAPLAIN MAY FACE A WHITE SLAVE CHARGE AFTER TRIAL

Girls Proves to Be An Unwilling Witness Against Captain Clampitt

(By Universal Service)
SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 26.—Lucile Swallow, 22 year old Kansas beauty prior attendant, late today completed the story of her alleged relations with Captain Orville Clampitt, army chaplain, who is facing an army court martial on account of her accusations and who may face white slavery charges under the Mann act as a result of her testimony.

It was learned that Miss Swallow was an unwilling witness for the prosecution today. She refused to volunteer any information and confined her replies to "yes" and "no" when forced to answer by leading questions.

Sensational rumors were afloat that the defense had received word that a much wanted witness would arrive here tomorrow to testify. The witness was said to be a man who is alleged to have associated with Miss Swallow about the time covered in her charges against Captain Clampitt.

The cross examination of the girl was immediately begun. The cross examination was conducted behind closed doors as was her direct examination. Court officials said it might require all day tomorrow to finish her grilling.

Admittedly counsel for defense hoped to break down the charges of the girl by cross examination. Letters she is alleged to have written the army chaplain demanding money were expected to be produced.

Major A. E. Sawkins of Vancouver Barracks, Washington, was waiting to take the stand when Miss Swallow completes her testimony.

Captain Clampitt is being tried for alleged misstatement, under oath of his relations with the girl. Major Sawkins is the officer who interrogated the army minister when the girl made her charges in communications sent the commandant at Vancouver Barracks.

Mann Act Charges Dropped Against Former Minister

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 26.—United States Commissioner Head, late today dismissed a Mann act charge against Dr. Thomas Hubert Jones, former pastor of St. Barnabas church in Philadelphia, and ordered him turned over to the police for Pennsylvania officers now on their way west.

The federal charge was dismissed when department of Justice agents informed the commissioner that the former Philadelphia pastor was under indictment there for alleged larceny and other charges.

Big Saving Made For Income Tax Payers Under New Law

Single and married persons without dependents will be called upon to pay the following taxes under the new tax bill which was signed yesterday morning by President Coolidge after establishing a record in being passed by both the House and Senate:

$2,000	7.50	5.63	15.00	5.63
3,000	22.50	16.88	30.00	16.88
4,000	27.50	16.88	45.00	28.13
5,000	37.50	16.88	60.00	39.38
6,000	52.50	28.13	90.00	56.25
7,000	75.00	39.38	120.00	78.75
8,000	105.00	56.25	150.00	101.25
9,000	135.00	78.75	180.00	131.25
10,000	165.00	101.25	225.00	168.75

These rates are based on personal exemptions of $1500 for single persons and $3500 for married persons.

The rate of taxation is 1-1/2 percent on the first $4000 of taxable income, 3 percent on incomes from $4000 to $8000, and 5 percent on incomes above $8000, compared to the old rates of 4 and 6 percent.

Taxes for persons with dependents are lower, as $400 additional exemption is allowed for each dependent.

CENSURE OF THE DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE IS LOST IN SENATE

Alleged Failure to Prosecute
The Aluminum Company Is Cause of Resolution

(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—The Walsh resolution censuring the Department of Justice for its failure to prosecute the Aluminum company of America for alleged violation of the anti-trust laws was defeated by a vote of 36 to 33 in the Senate today.

Senators Elkins of South Carolina and Bruce of Maryland, Democrats, voted with the Republicans against the report.

Their support saved the administration from an embarrassing situation, as Senator Robinson, Democrat, of Arkansas, had served notice that if the report was adopted he would introduce a resolution authorizing the President to appoint special counsel to prosecute the Aluminum company, thus taking the case out of the hands of the Department of Justice.

JURY HAD BEEN LOCKED UP

Judge Is Cajoled With Couple

(By Universal Service)
NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—Justice Wasservogel in Supreme Court late today dismissed the jury which was considering the divorce action brought by Mrs. William Kevitt Manton, in which she named Miss Marjorie Rambeau as co-respondent, after the Mantons had announced that they had effected a reconciliation.

Justice Wasservogel, who was instrumental in bringing about the Mantons' decision, had been closeted with them in his chambers for an hour before the announcement was made.

When informed of the action Miss Rambeau, one of Broadway's best known emotional actresses, offered the couple her congratulations, and said she held no ill will against Mrs. Manton.

The latter had charged that she had gone to Miss Rambeau's apartment, and said she held no ill will against Mrs. Manton. The latter had charged that she had gone to Miss Rambeau's apartment, and said she held no ill will against Mrs. Manton.

Marjorie Rambeau is an emotional actress, but today in Supreme Court she left her feelings out and relied purely on emotion.

Tears, sobs, sniffles and more tears bore witness to her feelings. She was questioned in the divorce proceedings brought by Mrs. Mabel Manton against her actor-husband William Kevitt Manton, and in which Miss Rambeau was named as co-respondent.

Attorneys for Manton, Mrs. Manton and for Miss Rambeau completed their summing up finally. Justice Wasservogel made his charge, and the case went to the jury.

Bernard H. Sandier, attorney for Marjorie, was the first to address the jury, his sentences punctuated by his client's sobs. Sandier, like Jack Wolff, Manton's attorney, made a whole affair on local Bourke, the private detective in the case.

Sandier made an impassioned plea on behalf of his client. "Do not send this case to the court like a broken reed," he said, "not only deprived of her good name, but also of her means of making a living. How can you suppose the public will support an actress who has been branded as a scarlet woman? This is a fight of life and death for Miss Rambeau."

Wolff declared that no evidence had been adduced to show misconduct by Manton and Miss Rambeau when the raiding party entered the actress's bedroom at the Hotel Endicott, and when, according to the two defendants, he was rehearsing her in her part for a new play—"cueing" her, as they say in the theatre.

With Miss Rambeau during the summations said A. E. Anson, her fiancé.

After the jury had been out several hours it was reported that they stood eight to four for vindication of Manton and Miss Rambeau, and for dismissal of Mrs. Manton's action.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 26.—John K. Frank so-called "Hollywood Ponzi" accused in indictment of "kiting" checks on Los Angeles banks had his bail reduced from $100,000 to $25,000 by Superior Judge Hahn today.

The idea on which Frank is to plead to the indictment was set as next Tuesday when arguments will be heard on motion to dismiss the charges. Frank was making preparations to leave the jail tonight on bail expected to be furnished by friends.

BUILDERS TO HOLD EXCHANGE HOUR EACH DAY

At the meeting of the Richmond Builders Exchange held last night plans were made for an exchange hour to be held on each day from 12:30 to 1:30 each day. The idea of this hour is to get the builders' contractors, general contractors and material salesmen together to transact business. This means that the builders will have a place to meet each day. The exchange hour will begin today.

A committee of three was appointed to look into the matter of having a luncheon each day for the builders to get together. This committee will get the opinion of the members and if the luncheon plan is not favorable, plans will be made for luncheon to be held once a week.

Those who are on the committee are: James Walker, C. E. Marshall and George P. Ingram.

At the meeting last night a gavel was presented to President E. H. Higgins, who was in charge of the meeting, by Charles Locke of the Locke Planning mill of Berkeley. The gavel was contained in a surprise package. A resolution was adopted by the builders thanking Locke.

Building conditions in Richmond were discussed and the general trend of opinion is that Richmond is enjoying one of the best building years of history.

The General Contractor's Social night which was slated to be held last night was postponed and it will probably be given on Friday night.

DOLEFUL DIOGENES

Diogenes with his lantern had nothing on the democratic national leaders now seeking for an issue with which to alarm and win the citizens to the justice of their cause. Daily lodges of sorrow are being held in democratic circles throughout the country, sessions made all the more saddening because of the persistent stubbornness of the people as a whole in continuing to applaud an administration which reduces expenses and taxes and still increases general efficiency.

The democrats believed they had a heartthrobbing issue in the bread trust, but even as they got ready to spring it, the administration filed suit against the trust and disclosed that for six months the officers of the government had been watching it. Senator Walsh started an aluminum trust investigation, but the republicans instead of running to cover came out to say the sooner the better, provided the democrats would agree to accept the responsibility to the taxpayers for the waste of money.

A remark of the presidential spokesman at the White House, that it was to be feared speeches now and then made in congress were uttered for political rather than governmental reasons, was broadcasted by the democrats as evidence of the attempt on the part of the executive to overawe the legislative branch of the government and thus nullify the constitution. It was felt this was to be a humdinger issue. But the people of the country instead of rising in indignation, burst forth editorially and in public statements to say they hoped the presidential spokesman would continue along this line, and the oftener he uttered this sentiment the better.

OUT OF BUSINESS.

While we are getting the government out of business it will not do any harm to follow the hand to the extent at least of stopping the Post Office Department from competing with the local printer in the matter of printed addresses on the stampede envelopes. For all of the careful figuring of the government efficiency experts which apparently show that it costs next to nothing to do this printing, those who have had experience in watching government operations know this is not the truth. The little fellow has a hard time anyway, and he should not be obliged to face his own government as a competitor.

CONTRAST

Stanley Baldwin, Premier of Great Britain, holds up the United States to British workmen and citizens as an example to follow. Premier Baldwin paints a picture of American prosperity contrasting it vividly with the British hard times:

"I would urge employers and trade union leaders to make the point of visiting that country quickly and often just at present, to study their methods, which are proving to be of such success in production, and I venture to think that no trade union leader could do better service to the cause he represents than by investigating closely what the methods are that enable American workmen to enjoy a better standard of living than any working people in the world, to produce more and at the same time to have so much higher wages.

"I venture to think there is much more for us to learn from studying conditions in that country than by spending any amount of money studying conditions in Moscow."

THE FAMOUS CAPTAIN KIDD

I don't suppose there is a boy alive today who has never heard of Captain Kidd, the pirate chief. Various stories of his life and his daring and his great achievements have been told. It is difficult to say which stories are really authentic and which are tales passed down from that day until this.

Richard Coote, the man who was sent over from England to stamp out piracy, made little headway with his job because the settlements were not in sympathy with his work. Probably his most noteworthy piece of work was the bringing of Captain Kidd to justice.

Now William Kidd was a Scot who made his home in New York. He was supposed to be a reliable and honest business man and a good sea captain. So the king, being in need of a trustworthy man, put him in command of an armed vessel and bade him go and destroy any pirates and pirate vessels he could run down. Apparently he knew at least one rendezvous of the pirates for he set off at once for a certain harbor.

Perhaps the pirates heard he was coming. Or perhaps they had abandoned the village. At any rate when he arrived there was not a man to be seen. It is thought that he then yielded to the temptation of the seas. The thirst for gain and for adventure raced in his blood. And instead of pursuing the pirates, he became one himself. His armed vessel did him good stead, I imagine. One day an argument arose on his ship. What it was all about we cannot know, but Kidd is believed to have hit a gunman with a bucket. The blow fell true than he intended and the wretched fellow fell dead.

The life of the pirate is an uncertain one and Captain Kidd with his vessel were at length captured under the regime of Richard Coote. The Captain was charged with the murder of the gunman and was sent to England to be tried. At the trial the evidence against him was very feeble. Little enough could be really proved. But the judge was prejudiced against him and would have convicted him on even less evidence and that false. So he sentenced him to be hanged.

Captain Kidd paid with his life for his days of adventure on the high seas.

TELEPHONES AND AUTOS BIG AID TO NEWSPAPERS

Rapid Communication Facilities Have Made Possible Modern Form of Journalism

Two factors—the telephone and the automobile—are responsible for the modern newspaper being able to cut its time units from hours to minutes and sometimes to seconds. Of the two, the telephone is the more generally used, for a newspaper without telephones would be helpless in a race with its competitors.

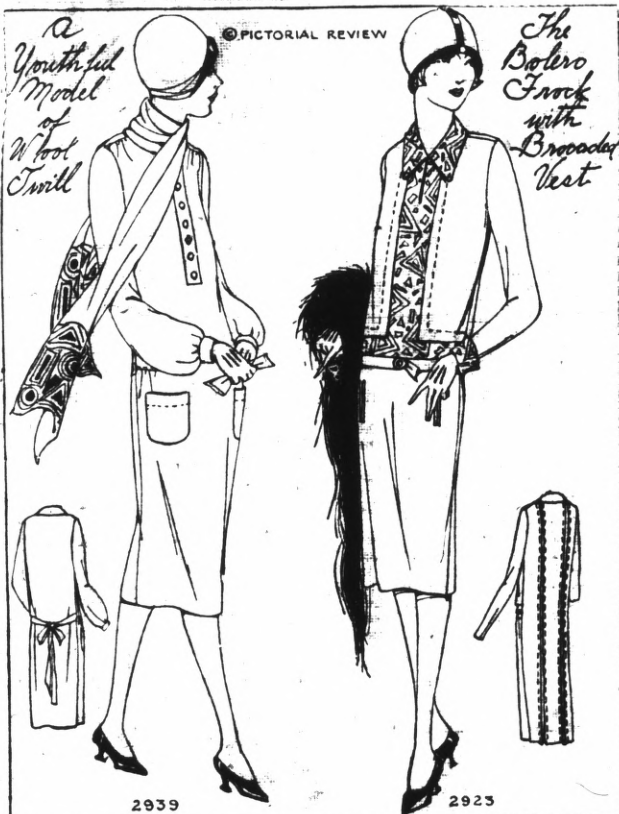

In days of old the reporter had to rely upon his legs, a street car or a horse and buggy in order to get to the scene of an important news event. Under such circumstances it often required several hours to cover one single ordinary assignment.

Nowadays, the telephone, both the local and long distance service, enables newspapers to keep in touch with every news event, large or small, in the district they serve. Reporters out on an assignment can keep in communication with the city desk and, in fact, in large cities many reporters who never write a word of newspaper copy are stationed in various sections, where by means of the telephone they are in instant touch with their office and on the other hand, are close by any big news event that might break out. When such an event does occur, the facts are at once telephoned to the main office and the story is written and set up in type there while the reporter is still at the scene of the fire, murder, accident or whatever event it may have been.

It is this medium of instant contact that enables the modern newspaper to hold its place against strenuous competition.

THE GOLDEN COCOON

Copyright, 1924, by Harper & Brothers

"The Golden Cocoon" with Helene Chadwick is a picturization of this novel by Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

SYNOPSIS

Molly Shannon, having been graduated from the State University, is teaching school in the north Texas village where her mother lives. With the help of her mother Larry, she has transformed the ramshackle home into a more presentable habitation. But Molly finds the home life drab and sordid, the environment pinched and colorless, and she shudders at the prospect of remaining here year after year.

A desire, long cherished, but dim and unreal as a problematical heaven until Stephen Rentro quickened it for a season with the false glitter of nearness, lifted its head now like an answer to her discontent. If she could go to the city—the great city—that mighty crossroads, where the art, culture, learning of two worlds mated, brought forth the fruits of tolerance and the open mind.

Gregory Cochran signed to the driver of the speck-and-span "livery team" to go on down the road. He stood then for some moments in the schoolhouse door, peering into the shadows, which contrasted sharply with the slanting April sunshine outside. Discovering presently the blue gingham figure at the window, he crossed the room with his usual deliberate stride.

As he drew near—very near indeed—Molly lifted her head from her arms, faced about dazedly. For a long time she stared at him, speechless, not convinced altogether of his reality, though certainly he looked anything but incorporeal. She had dreamed so many times of his coming—she had almost ceased to hope. "I'm afraid I startled you," he said, "but I couldn't resist the desire to take you by surprise. I knew I should beat the wire, anyhow."

"It's been so long," she managed to articulate at last. "I—I thought you had surely given me up. . . . He shook his head. "No, I haven't given you up. But tell me—you're not sorry you let me take the responsibility, are you?" He still kept her hands between his, and he did not let go her eyes, either, while he probed their blue depths with humorous intentness.

"No," she laughed a little—"I never realized until this minute how dreadful it would be not to be alive!" The words came spontaneous, uncensored, but she had no wish to take them back. He could be trusted to understand what she meant.

"This minute . . . ?" he repeated questioningly. "Because you are here, of course," she said sternly. "You don't suppose," she finished on a lighter and more casual note, "that a steady diet of Laws' Chapel for a year is calculated to make one value one's friends less highly, do you?"

"Hum— a rather unfair advantage for the friends, though, don't you think?" In his eyes there was an inscrutable effect of both light and depth. He drew Molly down to one of the desks near by, seated himself, a comical misfit, astride the one in front, facing her—and then and only then let go her hands.

It was almost an hour later when they issued from the old gray schoolhouse. The livery team was nowhere in sight, and they walked slowly side by side down the "big road"—the sunset moving ahead of them with stately stride across the prairie. Molly was blissfully untroubled by any extraneous thoughts about supper or what he would think of her mother and the children and the plain little house. She knew now that he would be as much at home here as in the spacious precincts of the "old Cochran place," and she was not mistaken.

Molly lifted her face to him in a stunned and helpless silence. She remembered with compunction that the hands he kept between his were soiled from the damp, black earth she had been digging in, and she tried to draw them away.

Temperance Education Work Has Not Been Stopped Says Letter To California W. C. T. U. Leader

Education is a vital part of a constructive program, and we need more of it, but the Woman's Christian Temperance Union has not stopped its temperance education work as Dr. James Empingham of the Church Temperance society is reported to have asserted. "Miss Cora Frances Stoddard of the department of school temperance education of the World and National Woman's Christian Temperance Union, says in a letter to Mrs. Addie M. Eades, of Berkeley, president of the W. C. T. U. of California, received today.

"On the contrary," says Miss Stoddard, "with the coming of the national prohibition, the Woman's Christian Temperance Union realized that education would be fundamentally essential as a continuing constructive force. Hence, so far from 'stopping' this organization for the past six years has systematically increased all its efforts to this end. Education, especially of youth, was placed in the forefront of its Fifth Anniversary Program and Fund, which has been in operation since 1920.

"A large educational work has been done with the adults including the foreign-born," Miss Stoddard states, "but the place of chief importance has been given to the training of youth in the facts and principles tending to sobriety. The annual reports for 1925 alone showed that literally millions of young people had been reached helpfully as indicated by their own response and by the growing cordiality of educational forces in cooperating to train youth to sobriety. In this one year nearly two million people definitely declared themselves for personal total abstinence and law observance. Lecturers and state directors of our department (scientific temperance instruction) were heartily welcomed to give a thousand addresses in schools, normal schools and colleges. Nearly a million of elementary and high school pupils took part in the essay and poster contests conducted with the cooperation of school officials and teachers under the auspices of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union in 8,000 contests in some forty states. Fifteen thousand superintendents of schools were furnished with the graded outlines for temperance instruction from the health programs of the National Education Association and the American Medical Association.

"Clearly, Dr. Empingham is uninformed or misinformed in this phase of the survey which he is said to have made."

Miss Stoddard further calls attention to the fact that the scientific Temperance Federation of which she is executive secretary, devotes itself wholly to educational work, constantly pressed the importance of this line of activity and furnishes annual quantities of data for educational purposes on this subject.

"For the present generation at least," says Miss Stoddard, "educational work must be steadily pressed, and more of it should be done. But it is not helpful to those who must do it to have the erroneous impression given the country that they have been so obstructed as to stop such effort, when actually, it has been increased."

ROTARY HAS A C. C. PROGRAM

At the meeting of the Rotary club yesterday J. F. His address was the feature of the Chamber of Commerce celebration staged by the Rotarians.

A Chamber of Commerce and the benefits which had been derived from the Chamber of Commerce week, which is drawing to a close.

Sanford complimented Dan Reardon, manager, and the owners of the California theatre for allowing the use of the theatre for the short program, which was presented last night. He also thanked the newspapers of the city for the space given Chamber of Commerce publicity during the week.

"We have endeavored to show you that the Chamber of Commerce is a most worth while institution," Sanford stated. "We hope you have gained some knowledge of what we intend to do and what our purpose is by the Chamber of Commerce week."

"We want Richmond to be an outstanding community in the Eastbay and hope that all of its citizens will unite in making this possible."

W. L. Miller, secretary of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce urged a united spirit in the East Bay in looking toward the future. Plans for the development of the community must be made he stated and the Chamber of Commerce is the only one that can make them.

"If you will show me a live community I'll show you a live Chamber of Commerce," Miller stated during his address. "If you are a dead Chamber of Commerce in a city I will show you a city that has no life and no future."

"These cities of the Eastbay are only separated by political barriers. We are privileged to live in one of the finest communities in the nation. Richmond must have a Chamber of Commerce that will join the remainder of the Chambers of Commerce in the Eastbay regions in planning for the future."

"The Chamber of Commerce is the only organization that can advertise your city. It is the only institution that can solve a thousand and one other questions that come up every day."

"If you feel that you cannot afford to support your Chamber with your financial aid then you should at least do it with your loyal whole hearted enthusiastic moral support."

Heart Trouble Is To Be Subject of Health Lecture

The interest continues to grow in the health lectures at both the afternoon and evening lectures in the Christian church, Sixth and Bissell streets. The health culture exercises at the close of the evening lectures given to the entire audience, appeal to all classes. Blood building foods and poor circulation will be discussed this afternoon and Heart disease and auto-intoxication tonight. One of the most attractive addresses of the series of lectures will be given by Dr. J. C. Elliott Sunday night at 7:30 on the Power of Mind Over Body and Auto-suggestion. This address has packed many of the largest churches of the continent at the Sunday services. Dr. C. L. Melroy, pastor of the great Methodist church in the heart of Winnipeg, Canada, said Dr. J. C. Elliott occupied my pulpit three Sunday mornings and evenings, speaking to great audiences. His address on The Power of Mind Over Body, is a masterpiece and will do great good. It packed Grace church to the doors.

"This address shows the power of mind over digestion. The mind has power to turn the most wholesome food into a rank poison by bad suggestion which may stop the flow of the digestive juices, causing fermentation and decay of the food in the stomach. The mind has power to cause, perpetuate, and cure disease. It also has its limitation. It can not cure all diseases. There is a wide difference between divine healing and mental healing," says Dr. Elliott. All these problems will be discussed.

Blood building foods and poor circulation will be the subject this afternoon at 2:30 and Heart Disease and auto-intoxication tonight at 7:30. "The heart is the mightiest engine on the planet for its size. It must life 18 tons of blood daily from the heart to the lungs to be purified. If given a fair chance it will do this work for a hundred years," says the lecturer.

"The Knockout" Is Rare Medley Of Film Talent

Action picture lovers who have tired of problem plays, psychological studies and the like, and who have been crying for pictures containing melodrama, romance, action and thrills will find all these in "The Knockout," which opened yesterday at the Richmond Theatre.

In this picture one finds love, action, excitement, scenic beauty, pathos and good, wholesome fun. And Milton Sills gives, in our opinion one of the greatest screen performances of his brilliant career. Combine Sills' fight scenes with "The Spoilers," "The Sea Hawk," "As Man Desires," together with his other action scenes in previous pictures and one has some idea of the rapid-fire action of "The Knockout."

"The Knockout" is a screen adaptation of M. D. C. Crawford's novel, "The Comelack." It was adapted and produced under the personal supervision of Earl Hudson who gave to the screen the adaptation of the novel.

Lorna Duven plays the part of the crippled lumberman's daughter convincingly. Claude King, as the scheming lumber king, gives a polished performance. John Philip Kohn, a giant of a man who plays the part of black Jack Duane, makes a most successful "heavy." Jed Prouty furnishes the laughs and does it scintillatingly well. One scene in particular where he bathes a skunk which he thinks is a cat is enough to send one into hysterics. But when all is said, Milton Sills dominates the picture. He is the picture. And his performance is one of his greatest.

Other features include "Time Flies," a Lupino Lane comedy; "Knicksnacks of Knowledge," a screen novelty.

JERSEY CLOTH JUMPERS FASHIONABLE ON RIVIERA

CANNES, Feb. 26.—There has been remarkable unanimity among the great dressmakers on one item of the smart woman's attire—the jersey jumper. Great minds have thought as one on this subject and now the jersey jumper presents itself as the outstanding feature of smart Riviera fashion worn, as it invariably is, with a kasha or crepe de chine skirt.

Perhaps it is not quite correct to say that the great ones have all thought alike. Given the jersey jumper as the basis of the mode, each house has developed the idea in its own characteristic of fashion.

Sometimes a man's cashmere undershirt is converted into one of the new jumpers.

Kathlyn Williams Likes Lions But Afraid of Mice

(By Universal Service)

I don't like to play with lions and tigers, but I'm afraid of a mouse.

These were the kind of things Kathlyn Williams used to say when she was known as the "Lion Queen." Through playing the title role in that thriller of thrillers, "The Adventure of Kathlyn," her name became a household word. No longer was she a complete unknown, but a person who could tell about Kathlyn's latest "Adventure."

During these days, death often played the wacky, victim in her pictures. Pearl's trips into the jaws of wild animals were daily occurrences, but after a short period of this, Miss Williams decided to look for a safer way to make a living.

She joined the old Motion picture company and played in "The Highway of Hope." Prior to starting, Miss Williams made her movie debut in a small D. W. Griffith "shortie," "All Is Not Gold," the cast included Mary Pickford and others whose names are long gone from memory.

A contract with Paramount found her playing featured roles in such pictures as "A Private Secret," "Forbidden Fruit," "The Spanish Dancer," and "Wanderer of the Wasteland."

When he was offered a part in "The Wanderer," Raoul Walsh spotted the wacky, victim in her pictures. The day of the California Theatre, Miss Williams joined the cast. Her charming appearance and personality, fit in perfectly with the role of Huldah, the prodigious mother.

In addition to Miss Williams the cast includes such well-known names as Ernest Torrence, Wallace Beery, Tyrone Power, William Collier, Jr., and Greta Nissen. Raoul Walsh, director of "The Thief of Baghdad," produced this Paramount picture, from the stage play by George Sanger.

Deer Stroll Through Tough 2 Gun Town Without Any Fear

(By Universal Service)

TOXOPAH, Nev., Feb. 26.—The few remaining inhabitants of Boobie, just over the California line from Nevada, were treated to an unique sight the other day when a herd of 28 deer calmly walked down the main street, passing out to the valley below and on to their winter feeding ground near Aurora, another deserted mining camp and on time home of Mark Twain. With no sign of fear the deer leisurely tramped down Boobie's main street, stopping occasionally to gaze at some of the old gambling houses, dance halls and saloons, all now empty and fast crumbling away.

Boobie, at one time a city of 5000 inhabitants made up mostly of two-gun men, cowboys, gamblers and painted women, some sixty years ago had the well earned reputation of being the toughest town in all the western country.

New Dog Star Is Introduced In California Film

A new dog star made his "bow" at the California Theatre last night in the Fox screen version of James Oliver Curwood's gripping tale of the Canadian North Woods, "When the Door Opened."

Unlike many of his canine contemporaries, Prince Royal, for such is his name, does not presume on our intelligence with the aid of a trick photography, but handles his role with an admirable restraint which some of our best human luminaries might well copy.

He protects his master, guards his mistress and brings about the downfall of the scheming sinister villain of the picture in real dog fashion. When the situation gets beyond his control he shows his mettle by using his head as well as his teeth and his thrilling race to his master through flood and storm makes one tingle from tip to toe.

Walter McGrail forsakes his usual heavy roles for the leading one in this Curwood picture and as a wronged husband trying to forget, he is convincing to an unusual degree. Jacqueline Logan is the feminine lead and never was more beautiful nor accomplished. Others in the cast are Frank Keenan, Margaret Livingston, Robert Cain, Diana Miller, Roy Laidlow and Walter Chung.

Other features on the time program include "The Fool," a Van Bibber comedy featuring Earle Foxe; "Varieties," "International News," Larry Canelo, at the organ.

Bishop Denounces Indecent Dances

(By Universal Service)

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Feb. 26.—Unchaperoned automobile rides at night, indecent dances, and immodesty in dress as a prolific cause of vice were denounced in a Lenten message by Bishop Arthur Jerome Drossaerts of San Antonio to his church today.

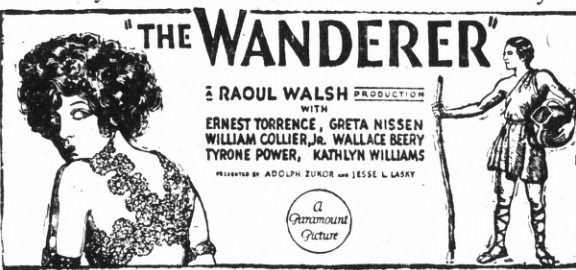

"A thorough reform in feminine fashion is imperative," he said in laying the blame to crime and laxity in morals to women's dress and lack of modesty.

"No need of advertising here to that degrading spectacle of young women being exhibited and prized like dogs and cattle in the so-called beauty pageants at our bathing resorts; or of the other abomination the appearing under various pretexts of women in male attire in streets and public places."

Eastbay Will Have Population of A Million By 1950 Is Predicted In Report of Utility District

If the East Bay cities continue at their present rate of growth they will have a population of 500,000 by 1920, and a population of virtually 1,000,000 by 1950, it is shown in the annual report of Arthur P. Davis, chief engineer and general manager of the East Bay Municipal Utility district, filed with the directors at their meeting in Oakland last night. Davis' figures were compiled to arrive at an accurate estimate as possible of a water supply which will be needed by the East Bay cities between now and the year 2000. His report shows that in the year 2000 the East Bay cities will have a population of 2,660,000 if they grow no faster than they have grown in the past. If the East Bay grows at the same rate as New York has grown since 1880, it would have a population of 5,950,000 in the year 2000.

Davis' report was a summing up of the present program of water development from the Mokelumne river calls for bringing in ultimately 200 million gallons daily, which means that the Mokelumne project, as now planned, will take care of the East Bay cities until the year 1977 or 50 years hence.

He shows that by 1923 the district will need 50 million gallons daily; by 1952, 100 million gallons daily; by 1966, 150 million gallons daily and by 1977, 200 million gallons daily.

The present program of water development from the Mokelumne river calls for bringing in ultimately 200 million gallons daily, which means that the Mokelumne project, as now planned, will take care of the East Bay cities until the year 1977 or 50 years hence.

"It is believed to be reasonably certain," said Davis, "that the good waters in April, May and June, 1927, from the San Joaquin river, can be made available, if required, and the same supply for possible water shortage will then also be available each subsequent winter and spring until the Lancha Plana reservoir is constructed to a height of 475 feet above sea-level at which time we can begin using the waters of the Mokelumne river. The contracts for the Lancha Plana pipe line east of Old River have been awarded and executed, with the condition attached deferring construction until the permits for taking water from the Mokelumne and the building of the Lancha Plana dam and reservoir shall have been granted by the State Division of Water Rights and the Federal Power Commission."

Acquisition of a local distribution plant is the next important step, according to Davis' report. "It is necessary," said the report, "that the district own and operate a complete distribution system, serving all nine cities of the district. The acquisition of the present system, of course, is highly desirable, but in case of failure to secure this, the District has ample authority under the law to construct a substitute system, if it should become necessary. In any event, a large amount of the construction of the pipe line within the district will be necessary to connect the new water supply with the existing system and with the consumers."

An appraisal of the properties of the East Bay Water company by the Utility District is now well advanced. Plans and estimates are also being made for the construction of a substitute system.

Davis reported that right-of-way work is progressing favorably and that 106 parcels have been purchased covering 26,181 miles of aqueduct right-of-way and an acreage of 371,933, at a total cost of $216,805.30. In cases where it has been impossible to agree on prices, condemnation suits have been filed.

Secretary Kimball's report sketches the history of the district from its formation in May 1923. He showed that progress was difficult during the first few months of the District's life until funds could be made available through taxation, but showed that rapid progress has been made since that time. "It appears that the East Bay Municipal Utility District is not subject to the criticism sometimes made against public undertakings, that the 'move in a stately way' and that their slowness of accomplishment leads to undue expense," said Kimball's report. "From the organization of the District the aim has been to complete at the earliest date the work for which it was created. Only delays imposed by circumstances or opponents of the District have impeded its progress, and these have been removed as quickly as possible."

"From present indications its task will be done and water delivered to East Bay consumers within a much shorter period of time than that taken by other cities for work of this character," Kimball's report is accompanied by a report from the auditing firm of Haskins and Sells, accounting experts, dated February 16, showing that the financial affairs of the District are in excellent condition and commending W. A. Wallace, associate accountant, and Kimball, the accountant, for the excellent condition of the books and records. The firm's report declared that the District's financial affairs have been conducted in a manner entirely above reproach.

Republicans to Lose Senate Is Harrison View

(By Universal Service)

CHICAGO, Feb. 26.—United States Senator Pat Harrison, of Mississippi, who wielded the temporary gavel in the celebrated Donnybrook affair in Madison Square Garden, offered the following predictions upon his arrival in Chicago today:

1.—Control of the Senate will pass out of the hands of the Republicans in the November elections.

2.—Revision of the tariff downward, particularly on articles the farmers purchase, will be the paramount issue in 1928.

3.—Democrats can win the presidency in 1928 provided they "don't pull another Loner like that in the New York convention."

4.—Calvin Coolidge will be the C. O. D. standard-bearer in 1928 if he wants to be.

5.—Democrats can't win the presidency by making the "wet" issue the main plank of the platform.

Senator Harrison is being cheered in many sections of the country says he has no aspiration to that line and would prefer that the talk ceased. He seems to be unable to silence the boosters.

Quick Wit Saves Painter From a Serious Injury

(By Universal Service)

ANTIOCH, Feb. 26.—Robert Cantrell, Antioch painter employed at the Antioch bridge, can be complimented upon his quick wit following the ignition of the gasoline which he was cleaning his hands yesterday. Cantrell had set fire to a paint bucket in preparation to cleaning it when a fellow worker tipped it over while he was using the gasoline. The gas caught fire immediately, and Cantrell's hands became a mass of flames. Using his cool head, to a good advantage, he thrust his hands in his pockets and the flames were smothered almost immediately. Medical treatment was given and Cantrell will be able to resume his work soon.

Plants Fail to Answer Lure of Electric Lights

(By Universal Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Electric lights may lure hens to lay eggs at night, but plants are wiser.

The Department of Agriculture conducted a series of tests by putting a network of wires over growing crops. About 50,000 volts were shot through it at night. The treatment lasted about 655 hours.

The department reports the experiment failed to exert the slightest influence on crop growth. Old nature took its regular course.

HELEN ON WAY TO FINALS IN CUP CONTEST

(By Universal Service)

MONTE CARLO, Feb. 26.—Helen Wills continued her business-like campaign to corner European tennis honors today, as she won her way to the finals of the Duke of Connaught's gold cup tournament and aided her partner, Mlle. Contoslavos in their open doubles victory.

Early in the afternoon, the American champion met Miss Eileen Bennett of England in a semi-final match which she won after some spirited volleying 6-3, 6-2. Miss Bennett had earlier in the day eliminated German's champion Frau Neppach after a hard battle, 6-2, 2-6, 6-2.

Court followers are now eagerly anticipating a colorful final between the youthful tennis favorite from America and Senorita Alvarez, the Spanish star. The Senorita must meet Mlle. Contoslavos in the semi-finals first but the caliber of her play in the present tournament has made her the favorite for the finals.

Miss Wills and Mlle. Contoslavos who are now becoming quite a veteran doubles combination made use of their fast improving team work to quickly eliminate Miss Cadie and Miss Wright of England, 6-4, 6-3.

After conquering three dour Mlle. Lenglen announced definitely this afternoon that she will not take part in the Nice tournament which begins March 8. President Garibaldi of the Nice tennis club immediately cancelled plans for the building of extra stands for this tournament.

When told of Mlle. Lenglen's decision Miss Wills answered simply: "I am very sorry. However Suzanne still may change her mind. It is a woman's privilege, you know."

A match which featured a "Mr. G" and Brandy Hillyard of England, the Dizier and Milne combination drew a huge gallery. "Mr. G," who off the courts is King Gustave of Sweden, and his partner won 4-6, 6-2, 7-5.

Despite his sixty-eight years the King played a vigorous game. His wide rimmed Panama hat is rivaling Helen Wills' eye-shade as the latest tennis vogue.

DUFFY LOSES CLOSE BOUT TO FINLEY

(By Universal Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 26.—Jimmy Duffy of Oakland, a two to one favorite, dropped a close ten round decision to Jimmy Finley of Kentucky here tonight. The decision in favor of Finley was a very fine one, being influenced by a knockdown in the first round.

In that session before the fight was over, under a heavy rain, Finley caught Duffy with a left hook to the head, knocking him almost head over heels. Duffy took a three count and managed to weather the storm. Finley trying desperately for a knockout, Finley made good use of the left hook in the second round and captured that Duffy hit his stride in the third round and caught four rounds in a row, forcing the fight all the way to the seventh round.

Finley missed his left hook again and had Duffy wear from blow to blow. Duffy took the eighth round but the last two went to Finley. The decision was widely approved by the crowd, who were obviously very pro-Finley.

Jack Green won a technical knockout over Sailor Pedderman in the fourth round. The latter being forced to quit on account of a closed eye.

Bert Magen defeated Frankie Sands in four rounds.

Priscilla Londa took a four round decision over Sammy Nicolini.

U. C. NINE MEETS O. C.

The U. C. baseball nine will battle the Olympic club nine today at West Field, Berkeley. The Bruins have a very early game that was stored up because of inability to play because of the rains and are confident of showing the clubmen a real game. Jack Nounan, the Bear's star hurler, will be on the mound.

When told of Mlle. Lenglen's decision Miss Wills answered simply: "I am very sorry. However Suzanne still may change her mind. It is a woman's privilege, you know."

GREB AT END OF TRAIL PUTS UP POOR BATTLE

(By SAM HALL)

NEW YORK, Harry Greb has reached the end of the long, long boxing trail. The marvel man of modern boxing lost the middleweight championship of the world here tonight to Theodore "Tiger" Flowers, known to the fight game as the Georgia Deacon. Greb's title went to the only negro ever to hold the middle weight championship by a decision, after fifteen rounds of fighting in the Madison garden while the majority of some 17,000 spectators looked on in amazement.

Greb did not lose very far, but they took his title away and while they were so doing he showed very plainly that he is through as a great fighter. Never did Greb fight so badly and it was far from a wonderful middleweight. It was far from a great fight for the matter.

Flowers is champion this morning, but while he and Harlem and the colored folks of Georgia are celebrating they should be thankful that he was lucky enough to catch Greb when that once great fighter really had reached the end of the trail that his friends had seen in the offing or the past six years.

RICHARDS AND TILDEN WIN IN TENNIS GAMES

(By GEORGE E. TIMPSON)

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—W. S. Tilden and Vincent Richards won the lead in the Franco-American international match at the seventh regiment armory today when they defeated Jean Rene Lacoste and Jacques Brugnon in the doubles, 4-6, 6-2, 8-10, 6-1, 7-5.

The American pair returned once more for the occasion made a magnificent pull-up in the last two sets, after being apparently hopelessly outplayed in the earlier part of the contest. Tilden was especially effective while Richards was not far behind him in scintillating volleys at the net.

THE FRENCHMEN DOMINATED

the play all through the earlier part of the match hammering at the service of Richards for the most part, with fair success. Lacoste was far below the form he captured in the national indoor championship. His service was unsteady and his backhand far below the perfection of Thursday.

The Americans are now in the lead and need only one of the singles matches tomorrow afternoon for victory.

An exhibition match between Francis T. Hunter and Fred C. Anderson preceded the main match and was won by Hunter, 6-3 6-2.

Pittsburg Pirates Start Spring Work

PASO ROBLES, Cal., Feb. 26.—The pitchers and catchers of the championship Pittsburg Pirates team, opened the spring training season auspiciously today with two splendid workouts.

Manager Bill McKechnie and Fred Clarke, former manager, who is now vice-president of the Pittsburg Stars, led the batmen to the pretty ball park this morning after McKechnie and Clarke had both made addresses to the rookies and veterans.

A wonderful day of sunshine greeted the Easterners as they embarked for the park. Old Sol was so comforting that the management found it necessary to offer words of caution through both workouts.

Seventeen pitchers and four catchers are in the squad together with McKechnie, Clarke, Chick Fraser, Jack Onslow and Joe Devine, coaches, and "Pie" Traynor, third baseman. "Pie's" fever is so hot they could not keep him away from camp.

The second squad is due here next Thursday evening, the advance squad arriving last night.

British Railroads Killed 1 Passenger During Year 1925

(By Universal Service)

LONDON, Feb. 26.—Despite a weight and speed of traffic which are unparalleled in the world, only one passenger was killed in a train accident in Great Britain during 1925.

This figure, which compares with more than two-score fatalities in France and four times that number in the United States is attributed to rapid construction and the precautions taken by the railway staffs.

"The past year," states the "Railway Gazette," "has recorded the number of passengers killed in train accidents, has almost the same clean sheet as the years 1901 and 1902, when there was not a single fatal passenger train accident."

The accident returns for 1925 will show one passenger as having been killed due to a train accident. This occurred on the Great Eastern Railway, near London, on the 11th of January. Even with that inclusion, it was almost a clean sheet for the year.

In that, according to the evidence in the case, the man concerned would probably still be alive were it not that he suffered from fatty degeneration of the heart, the shock received in the accident was said to have hastened his death shortly afterwards.

While there has been one previous year—1909—when there was a single fatality only, there was but one fatal accident to a passenger train in the four years, 1914, 1918, 1920 and 1923, there were two fatal accidents, and, limiting the review to the present century in eight years there were three.

"Twenty accidents occurring in 1925 have so far been inquired into, of which the latest occurred on October 12. Of these, ten related to collisions involving passenger trains, two were collisions of goods trains, two were derailments of passenger trains, one was a collision of a goods train, four related to passenger trains and one to a goods train running into a buffer stop."

Sir Herbert Walker, general manager of the Southern Railway, said: "The density of traffic in Great Britain is greater than anywhere in the world, and the average speed of British trains is greater than that in any other country."

TOD MORGAN PUTS UP POOR FIGHT IN EAST

(By Universal Service)

By HARRY MACNAMARA
EAST CHICAGO, Ind., Feb. 26.—Tod Morgan, Junior-lightweight champion of the world may be all of that in his native state and along the golden shores of the great Pacific Coast but he failed to prove his greatness as a title holder in his ten round bout with E. N. Davis, which was offered as the windup of a so-called all-star boxing show here tonight.

Morgan won the decision by a comparatively safe margin but he failed to reveal that he possessed a punch.

Davis, whose previous activities have been confined almost exclusively preliminary to numbers was able to reach the champion with a straight left hand. He appeared frightened at the outset and was content to let Morgan carry the fight to his limit. Had he elected to step in close and use that right with more power there might have been a different story.

Morgan was willing and aggressive and he kept punching away with a long left and a short right across that weary Davis. Not once during the entire bout did Davis in distress. In justice to Morgan it must be said that he was busy all of the time and the cash customers who paid to see the fight got what they paid to see.

Davis came out of his defensive shell in the eighth round and they mixed it up after that time at a lively gallop.

Davis managed to get an even break in this round and he struck a straight right into Morgan's jaw in the ninth round that shook the champion up considerably. He managed to outscore Morgan in close during this round also and won the session by a clear margin.

Both boys speeded up in the last round and they stood in the center of the ring with both hands in close. Morgan outscored the Chicago boy in this sort of business.

PROHIBITION IS MORAL ISSUE SAY PASTORS

(CHICAGO, Feb. 26.—"Divorce is necessary today."

"Birth control is not a moral or an ethical question."

"Prohibition is a moral issue."

These statements were made today by various ministers, attending the Inter-Seminary conference at the University of Chicago.

"Jesus said that divorce laws were necessary in his time, because of the hardness of men's hearts," the Rev. A. W. Palmer, pastor of an Oak Park church said.

"Have we changed; have our hearts softened since Christ's time?"

There was a chorus of "no."

Birth control is not a moral question. Only thirty of the more than 500 present believed that it was.

On the alcoholic question, the meeting neared a riot. But things were quieted down and a list of resolutions on the liquor question were adopted.

The resolution as adopted declares that the prohibition question is moral, not legal, and that the church is bound to support it; that all prohibition enforcement officers should be put under civil service and that the church must recognize its place in the problem.

Some of the members of the conference said that they would be laughed at because of the mildness of the resolutions.

"Connie" Is to Be Married to Rich Londoner

(By Universal Service)

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 26.—Connie Talmadge, the irrepressible "Connie" of the movies, will marry Oliver McInosh, wealthy Londoner, at Burlingame tomorrow. It was revealed here today.

Joseph M. Schenck husband of Norma Talmadge, confirmed the announcement of plans for the wedding. It will take place at the home of Jean St. Cyr, millionaire resident of the San Francisco suburb. Mr. Schenck said Constance and Norma Talmadge and Mrs. McIntosh were at the St. Cyr home last night.

The wedding announcement did not come as a surprise to close friends, although Mr. McIntosh's courtship had been marked by ostentation, they said.

He first came to California about four years ago with William Rhineland Stewart, a stepson of Mr. St. Cyr. He met Miss Talmadge three years ago on one of his frequent visits to the coast and since that time has seen her principally in New York and San Francisco.

This will be Miss Talmadge's second venture into matrimony. In 1920 she was married to John Mackintosh, a wealthy cigarette manufacturer, of New York. After little more than a year she divorced him.

What Is a Cold? Professor Wants To Find a Cure

(By Universal Service)

BERKELEY, Feb. 26.—What is a cold?

What is its cause?

How can it be cured?

A niche in the hall of fame awaits the man or woman who can answer the above questions, according to Professor S. J. Holmes of the Zoology department at the University of California here today.

"There are no cures for colds," declared Professor Holmes.

"Because the medical profession and contemporary scientists, after years of research work, have not discovered their cause."

It is problematical whether the causes and methods of prevention will ever be learned, according to Professor Holmes.

"To determine its cause and effect a positive cure for colds," said Professor Holmes, "would be the greatest achievement the medical profession could offer the world."

"At the present time," continued Professor Holmes, "science has shown that medicine has no effect on colds, nor can it be proved that the so-called 'remedies' are even a check to the most common of diseases—colds."

DIRIGIBLE IS TO BE USED IN TRY FOR NORTH POLE

(By Universal Service)

VANCOUVER, B. C., Feb. 26.—Raold Amundsen's next attempt to reach the North Pole by air will be in a Dirigible, the noted explorer told a party of friends here today as he departed for New York.

"I have given up exploration by sea for the Newer Navigation of the air," Amundsen said. "Airplanes failed in our first attempt to reach the Pole. Dirigibles are my only hope now."
